

Peyton Schumann

Senior Director of Government Relations
Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association

Peyton Schumann grew up on a ranch in Novice, Texas, where his father trained cutting horses and managed a cow-calf operation. Today, his family operates a successful stocker operation.

A proud graduate of Coleman High School and Texas Tech University, Schumann began his career in Austin, working for the Texas Senate as an assistant committee clerk. He served as public and digital engagement coordinator for Texans for Greg Abbott, then later the director of government relations for Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. He left TSCRA to serve as government relations specialist at the Texas General Land Office under Commissioner Dawn Buckingham, M.D. Schumann has since returned to TSCRA as the senior director of government relations.

He and his wife, Jordan, welcomed their son, Emmett, in July 2024. The Schumann's love escaping the city to spend time at the ranch, where they enjoy the outdoors with their family and dogs.
